obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to add a photograph to Izawa's secure document, to increase security.

With regard to claims 6, 13, and 22, Izawa discloses the method for providing a secure document as outlined above, but does not mention buying the ticket with e-commerce. The examiner takes official notice that purchasing tickets over the Internet is well known in the art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to apply Izawa's security method to tickets sold over the Internet, so as to improve their security.

Pascale,

Talking with my boss, I believe the fax receipt you sent me will probably be enough for the office of petitions. It might be enough proof for the USPTO, just not for us as examiners. My boss told me that, to the best of his knowledge, the PTO does send some sort of confirmation receipt when a fax is received, and that information on such a receipt would help us track down the missing papers. I am sorry that I don't know more, and can't do more, but I do fully expect the office of petitions to revive this application. This is really the kind of thing they deal with frequently, while we hardly ever see this situation.

Jacob

Dear Examiner Lipman,

Thank you for your answer. I guess there is no way we can prove we sent the response from the USPTO's point of view, that the case will be abandoned and we will lodge a petition. Our firm is located in Australia and we never receive any "fax receipt confirmation" from the USPTO other than the facsimile transmission our facsimile machine issues once a fax has gone through. Should there be another receipt? Is there a possibility the USPTO could issue such receipt back to us right after a facsimile transmission to the USPTO? How can other inventors/applicants who are located outside the US prove to the USPTO that their faxed response has gone through and meet the USPTO's requirement of proof (if needed)? We would be very grateful for a solution.

Thank you for kind your help.

Yours sincerely

Pascale,

For me to find the file, and to have enough to prove that we received it, I would need a receipt that the office would have sent in reply to this fax. My SPE informed me that the fax sheet you sent is not enough for us to act on, but may well be enough for the office of petitions. Unless you have a transmission from the office confirming receipt, there is not much I can do but abandon it, and remove the abandonment after the petition passes. It's really more of an issue of tracking down the papers than proving that you sent it. If you have such a receipt, please send it. I think the faster we move on this the better, since a reply should have already gone out if we had filed your response. Please get back to me by Wednesday on the chances of you finding such a receipt.

Jacob

Dear Examiner Lipman,

I am attaching the scanned page of the facsimile receipt which issued when we sent the response showing the fax number and the result confirming 17 pages were sent. If this is proof enough and you still cannot locate the response, then we could refax to yr direct fax number if necessary. Hope this is sufficient. Please let me know.

Thank you

Pascale,

If you still have a confirmation receipt from the patent office with the tracking number, that might help me try to locate it and prove that you sent it. Otherwise I will have to abandon it, and let you file a petition. Please get back to me by end of business Tuesday.
